

Keep your knowledge and skills up to date in the youth court system

8 March 2023

Keeping your knowledge and skills up to date is an essential part of:

- providing a competent service
- getting the best possible outcomes for child defendants, witnesses and victims
- assisting the court in the administration of justice and making sure children can participate effectively in proceedings.

Your obligations

All solicitors must keep their knowledge and skills up to date. Read our Good practice guide to understand what this means for you.

How to keep your knowledge and skills up to date

Our continuing competence resources set out the practical steps you should take to keep your knowledge and skills up to date. They also include information about how to complete each step and a learning and development template.

Reflecting on the questions below can help identify if your knowledge and skills are up to date:

- Do you understand the key principles of the youth justice system, including 'child first, offender second', safeguarding and the prevention of re-offending?
- Do you understand the measures that can help divert children from the criminal justice system? These are often called pre-court measures or out of court disposals and include youth cautions, community resolution and triage.
- Do you have the knowledge and skills to effectively identify and adapt your services to a range of vulnerabilities, communication needs and safeguarding concerns?
- Do you understand key youth court case law, legislation and guidance concerning the allocation of cases in youth courts and magistrates courts?
- Do you understand the rights of young and vulnerable witnesses to effective participation?

- Do you understand the range of special measures, participation directions and related adjustments that can help children participate in proceedings?
- Do you understand how intermediaries, screens, live links and other communication aids can help children participate in proceedings?
- Do you understand the purpose of ground rules hearings, the topics they should cover and when they are mandatory?
- Do you have the knowledge and skills to effectively adapt your questioning to vulnerable child witnesses? This is especially important if you are cross examining a child.
- Do you understand the policies applicable to children in care or with looked after status, including the 10 Point Checklist [<https://yjlc.uk/resources/legal-updates/forgotten-10-point-checklist-decision-prosecute-offending-childrens-homes>].?
- Do you understand the range of protections available to victims of trafficking?
- Do you understand the relevant bail and remand legislative framework, including remand to youth detention and local authority accommodation?
- Do you understand the full range of sentencing options and relevant guidance, including the Overarching Principles for Sentencing Youths [https://www.sentencingcouncil.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/Sentencing-Children-and-young-people-Definitive-Guide_FINAL_WEB.pdf].?
- Do you understand the approach to sentencing people with mental disorders, developmental disorders or neurological impairments?
