May 2022

You can only qualify through this route if you meet our transitional requirements. [\[become-solicitor/legal-practice-course-route/transitional-arrangements/\]](#)

If you do not meet these, you will need to qualify under the SQE [\[become-solicitor/sqe/\]](#).

How to register a Period of Recognised Training (PRT)

To register your training you must log into mySRA.

You will need the SRA number of your training providers head office.

You should make your application 30 days before you are due to start.

Training needs to be registered before you start as the training start date cannot be backdated.

What you need to do if you have already started your training

If you have already started a PRT and not registered it, you will need to apply to register the training, in mySRA. You must choose the earliest possible start date.

Once the PRT has been registered, the Training Principal must then confirm the correct PRT start date, by sending an email to us [\[contactus\]](#), within five working days. If you started your training longer than three months ago, the Training Principal will also need to send:

- the reason for the delay in registering your PRT;
- copy of the contract of employment; and
- copy of all training records completed to date.

After we have received this information, we will use our discretion to backdate the PRT.

How to pay

The fee is £100.

We will contact your training provider to pay the fee and confirm you will be training with them.

Previous work-based experience

If you have any previous work-based experience you can let us know as part of this application.

Our decision

When we see payment from your training provider, we'll make a decision straight away. This could take up to 30 days if we require more information.
