

Admission dates

16 April 2020

Admission dates are normally the first and the fifteenth day of each month (or the first working day thereafter). Your preferred date of admission will need to be specified in your AD1.

When deciding on your admission date allow extra time if you:

- disclose any character and suitability [trainees/period-recognised-training/#character] issues - this can take up to six months
- need work experience [trainees/admission/admission-criteria] to be assessed - this can take up to three months
- need an overseas criminal record check [trainees/admission/dbs-check] .

When choosing your admission date make sure that:

- if you are a trainee this is after the end date of your training
- you have met the requirements of your route to admission [trainees/admission/admission-criteria]
- you return this form at least 30 days before your chosen date

This is a preferred date. We will only admit you when we are satisfied that you have met Regulation 5.1 of the Authorisation of Individuals Regulations [solicitors/standards-regulations/authorisation-individuals-regulations] .
