Find out more about the SQE in Swansea

08 June 2022

The introduction of the SQE and qualifying work experience (QWE) last year marked a step change in how people train and become a solicitor. This new way of qualifying has opened up opportunities for law firms and in-house teams in how they train future solicitors.

We have been running free networking events to talk about how QWE is working in practice. We would also like your input into our plans for evaluating the impact of the SQE and wider qualification changes.

These events offer anyone involved in training future solicitors the chance to speak to our staff about qualification and get answers to your questions. This could be an employer or a work experience provider such as a charity or law clinics.

Join us at the University of Swansea, School of Management on Thursday 7 July to discuss these topics through facilitated discussions, exploring QWE, what is going well, what could be better and further information available.
