Supporting the growth of innovation in the legal sector

In an increasingly digital world, legal services are changing. They are being offered in new ways, while consumer expectations are shifting.

We want to help meet the evolving needs of the public, businesses, law firms and the economy. We offer support for responsible adoption of legal technology and other innovation.

Legal technology has the potential to significantly improve how law firms operate and how people access justice. So, we offer an agile, pragmatic approach to regulating this area.

Depending on whether you are a member of the profession or a lawtech provider, this section of the website shows how we can support you.
